The world's most glamorous crystal

WILLIAM YEOWARD CRYSTAL

William Yeoward Crystal came into existence in 1995, the result of a remarkable collaboration between Timothy Jenkins and William Yeoward.

Timothy Jenkins, third generation in the family-owned crystal business John Jenkins, founded in 1901, had an intimate knowledge of the European crystal industry and for some years had been making reproductions of antique pieces. William Yeoward, already a noted designer working in the field of furniture, lighting, fabrics and interior accessories for the home with a store on London's Kings Road, was an avid collector of antique crystal. But he felt that there was little contemporary crystal that was truly beautiful.

A chance meeting in 1993 brought the two together and they quickly found that they shared a passion for the beautiful crystal of the 18th and 19th Centuries and both wished these wonderful pieces could once again be created and preserved for posterity. They decided to work together to create a new collection of Crystal that combined some of the best elements of the Georgian period with modern technology in crystal making. They wanted to create completely new hand-made pieces that were beautiful in themselves but practical and useful for today's interiors. A key decision was to incorporate wherever possible some of the styles of cutting and hand engraving that make antique crystal so appealing, while at the same time creating functional and contemporary pieces.

Today, the William Yeoward Crystal Brand incorporates William Yeoward Crystal, Country, American Bar and Studio. Each Collection has its own style, feel and use for the home but always maintaining the style that has been the signature of William Yeoward Crystal from the beginning.

William Yeoward Crystal can be found prominently displayed in the finest retail stores across the world and has been widely embraced for its distinctive designs and unique style.

In May 2024 William Yeoward Crystal was honoured to be granted a Royal Warrant of Appointment from HM The King as Supplier of Crystal Glass.
